We would greatly appreciate hearing your reflections on the impact of the Wild Schools program on place-based teaching and learning in your school.

Our Journey: How has the Wild Schools program influenced the degree to which students connect with nature? Were there any challenges or barriers to incorporating environmental learning? How were these addressed? Do any remain? What aspects of the program were (most) beneficial to your school?

Highlights: What were some of the highlights of participating in the Wild Schools program? Did your school expand outdoor learning opportunities for students through field trips, projects, and or community partnerships? If yes, please describe!

Legacy: Will the expanded outdoor learning opportunities be continued beyond the Wild Schools program? Does your school's staff feel more confident in connecting students outdoors? What is the lasting impact of the Wild Schools program at your school?
